Are energy storage projects considered solar projects

Overview

---

Historically, energy storage projects qualified for tax credits only if they were co-located with another qualified energy generating project (often a solar project), but recent changes to the tax code allow energy storage projects to qualify for tax. Historically, energy storage projects qualified for tax credits only if they were co-located with another qualified energy generating project (often a solar project), but recent changes to the tax code allow energy storage projects to qualify for tax. The AES Lawai Solar Project in Kauai, Hawaii has a 100 megawatt-hour battery energy storage system paired with a solar photovoltaic system. Sometimes two is better than one. Coupling solar energy and storage technologies is one such case. The “single project” question bears upon eligibility for tax. The Energy Information Administration (EIA) forecasts that the capacity of utility-scale energy storage will double in 2024 to 30 GW, from 15 GW at the end of 2023, and exceed 40 GW by the end of 2025. A solid-state battery co-created by the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory and Ampcera, Inc. Additionally, the OBBB provides for energy projects to be depreciated in a 1-year timeline vs.
