Can I store my keys in supermarket lockers

Overview

Use a Secure Key Safe or Lockbox: One of the most secure ways to store a spare key is by using a wall-mounted or portable key safe. These devices are locked with a combination code and can be discreetly placed on your property. That said, we've all wondered if that big planter out front—with your spare key hiding underneath—is not just a big invitation for strangers to. Away from windows: Your everyday keys should remain inside your home when they are not on you. But you also have to make sure that an intruder can't fish it out of a window. If you keep important files or assets in a locked file cabinet, it may seem. Where should I hide/store spare keys if I have no family or friends nearby?

I recently moved to a new place after separating from my partner and I haven't been able to figure out what to do with my spare keys to make them more accessible in an emergency. The most common place for keys that are used every day, is usually by the door or entranceway.
