Kiribati Wetland solar System

Overview

Imagine living on islands where diesel generators guzzle $0.85/kWh fuel while seawater creeps into freshwater lenses. That's Kiribati's reality - 33 coral atolls facing energy poverty and climate threats simultaneously. Faced with these challenges, the Green Hope Foundation, an international NGO led by young women, is working at the grassroots level to provide a sustainable solution to water scarcity. Through the installation of solar-powered water farms, the foundation is not only addressing water insecurity but. While fuel prices surge and the impacts of climate change become increasingly evident, the islanders are now turning to solar energy. It will be accompanied by a battery energy storage system (BESS). 5 MW South Tarawa Renewable Energy Project. Kiribati has now completed the installation of a 400kWp solar photovoltaic (PV) system to the South Tarawa electricity grid in Bikenibeu. This study examines the role of PV technologies in the sustainable development process in Kiribati, with particular reference to remote atoll com MGL c.
